Clients value Bob's responsiveness and ability to provide successful and cost-effective representation that focuses on both the case at hand and the client's broader strategic concerns.

OVERVIEW

In over 35 years of practice, Robert Walsh has developed a national practice representing insurance companies in coverage litigation and providing claim advice and claim monitoring. He is the Chair of the firm's Insurance Coverage and Bad Faith Practice Group. Clients value Bob's responsiveness and ability to provide successful and cost-effective representation that focuses on both the case at hand and the client's broader strategic concerns. While he is based in the firm's Philadelphia office, he is also admitted in New York and New Jersey and maintains an active practice in those states. Overall, Bob has handled insurance coverage litigation in more than 20 states ranging from Maine to California and Florida to Washington.

Bob has developed a particular focus in the area of complex claims involving environmental damage, asbestos, toxic tort liabilities and employer's liability claims. He also has extensive experience litigating coverage disputes and providing coverage advice for other diverse matters, such as construction defect claims, claims under professional liability and other "claims made" policies, and cutting-edge product liability claims involving pharmaceuticals and food additives. In addition, Bob has represented policyholders in the direct defense of a variety of claims.

Bob is a Fellow of the American College of Coverage Counsel. He is a regular presenter at White and Williams' Coverage College. He has also spoken at Perrin Conferences and other conferences on insurance litigation topics and he provides regular training to the firm's insurance company clients.
