

Leadership Ethics: Confronting Ethical Issue Case Studies Involving the Worker, Employer, and Carrier in Lien Recovery Litigation

National Association of Subrogation Professionals, 2022 Spring Hybrid Conference
3.17.22

Recovering workers' compensation subrogation liens is becoming increasingly difficult. This is due in part to questionable defense tactics, a constantly changing legal landscape and the ethical and leadership challenges involving the relationship between the workers' compensation carrier, employer, and injured worker. Using case studies and audience participation, Brett Tishler and Rob Caplan will be providing subrogation professionals with the insight and tools to identify and navigate these issues to successfully and ethically recover their liens.
